ITALY DEMANDS FIUME

Controversy Over the Disposition of Port Reaches a Climax—Col. House Tries to Smooth Things.—Controversy is Bitter.

Paris, March 22.—The Italian delegation to the Peace Conference has unanimously decided to withdraw from the conference unless Fiume is assigned to Italy contemporaneously with the conclusion of peace. The decision was reached at a meeting yesterday of the full delegation presided over by Premier Orlando. It was immediately communicated to the powers.

Col. E. M. House, of the American mission, promised Premier Orlando to present within a few days a project concerning the Italian-Jugo-Slav frontier which he hopes will satsifactorily settle the dispute.

The decision of the Italian delegation, as reported from Paris, apparently brings to a head the bitter controversy between Italy and the new Jugo-Slav state over the disposition of land along the Adriatic, formerly belonging to the Austro-Hungarian Empire, which both nationalities claim.

Italy's claims originally included virtually the entire Dalmation coast with Trieste and Fiume, which latter city is the second principal seaport on the eastern side of the Adriatic. Recent reports have been that the Italian representatives were manifesting a disposition to make important concessions regarding the land along the Dalmation coast, provided that the city and harbor of Fiume remained to Italy. The Jugo-Slavs, however, have been insistent that this port be allotted to them, claiming it to be essentially a Croation city and necessary to the new Jugo-Slav state as affording the only feasible, suitable sea outlet for her commerce.

On the other hand, there has been no disposition on the part of Italy to yield her point so far as Fiume was concerned.

DRIVE OPENS MONDAY

Red Cross Campaign For Collection of Clothing Will be Continued Through out Week—All Asked to Contribute to This Worthy Cause.

The most comprehensive collection of used clothing, shoes and bedding ever undertaken will be conducted by the American Red Cross during the week of March 24-31, when the American people will be asked to donate ten thousand tons of cast-off appareal to the helpless refugees in Allied countries. The need of clothing in many lands is one of the most serious reconstruction problems, but it is expected that a long step toward solving it will be taken when the thousands of Red Cross chapters begin their collection of discarded garments.

Every kind of garment for all ages and both sexes, except such as obviously could not help refugees, is to be accepted. Since the clothes will be subjected to the hardest kind of wear only garments of strong and durable material should be given. They need not, however, be in perfect condition for there are thousands of destitute women in the recovered territory eager to earn a small livelihood by repairing the clothing that will be sent to the needy. In addition to the second hand garments there will be accepted piece goods, light, warm canton flannel and other fabrics from which to make clothes for new-born babies, sheeting and blankets and even scrap leather which is needed for repairing shoes. Woolen goods of any kind, soft hats and caps for all ages and sweaters of any kind or size will be welcomed, while men's shirts and pajamas that are not longer serviceable as such can be turned into children's garments.

The chapters collecting the clothing will forward it to a central collecting point when it will be shipped to Europe in vessels of the European Relief Administration. It will be distributed under the direct supervision of American Red Cross agents.

Send all garments to the Red Cross Headquarters or if Swan Bros. is notified telephone 183, auto will call.

RICHMOND—THEDA BARA

Back from the great conflict, with peace restored, our blinded men have come. Our hospitals are doing their best to restore their sight, or at least to teach them to "see" in spite of their blindness.

Yet it has been proved that many persons who are blind can see far better than the men and women who have eyes which are normal. In "The Light," the new Theda Bara super-production which will be seen tonight at the Richmond Theatre, it is a blinded man who teaches a seeing woman how to see.

The heroine, portrayed by the incomparable Theda Bara, is known as the most infamous woman in Paris until the blind man shows her where to find the light. While all Paris toils to relieve a host of sufferers this woman revels and dances with her lovers. But the sight of the blinded man, a sculptor, groping helplessly, arouses her keen compassion. For his sake she kills the Apache dancer who comes to claim her as his own.

JUDGE KEITH'S PORTRAIT

Rosewell Page Pays Tribute to Former Justice in Presentation Speech

Distinguished lawyers and friends of the late Judge James Keith, for many years president of the Supreme Court of Appeals, witnessed Thursday morning the presentation by the Richmond Bar Association of an oil portrait of the jurist to the court over which he once presided. The presentation speech was made by Rosewell Page, member of a committee with Eppa Hunton and W. W. Scott, Judge Stafford G. Whittle, president of the court, accepted it.

Eloquent tribute was paid by Mr. Page to Judge Keith, who served the State in a judicial capacity continuously for forty-six years, resigning in 1916 from the Supreme Court of Appeals. Twenty-one years of this period of service was spent as president of the court of last resort.

The portrait is the work of Miss Vander Veer, of Pennsylvania, and is considered an excellent likeness of the distinguished judge. Master James Keith, grand nephew of the jurist, pulled the cord that unveiled the painting.

GRAND—DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS.

A unique theme is presented in "A Modern Musketeer," the Douglas Fairbanks production released by Artcraft, which will be shown at the Grand Theatre on Monday. The story deals with the chivalry of olden days brought up to date by the reincarnated D'Artagnan, the Dumas hero, whose spirit presumably lives in the character portrayed by Fairbanks.

Also Antonio Moreno in "The Iron Test."

Double Tragedy in Richmond—Disappointment in Love Was Motive—Young Woman Loaned Sweetheart Money for Revolver.

Richmond, March 22.—Lawrence Smith, 203 West Cary Street, shot and killed Miss Aeropia H. B. Clopton, a New Kent County girl, and turned the gun upon himself, sending a bullet through his brain, as the lovers stood in the doorway of the young woman's home, 207 West Cary Street, last night about 8 o'clock.

The girl died almost instantly, while the author of the double tragedy lived barely long enough to reach Grace Hospital.

A strange turn of fortune brought death to the young woman from the hands of a disappointed lover to whom she had lent money to buy the revolver. Miss Clopton's mother objected violently to a match between the lovers.

The man talked of this difficulty to the girl at the Jefferson Hotel, where she was employed, and declared he would kill himself if he had money to buy the revolver. His sweetheart gave him $2. The tragedy came the following night.

The couple had quarreled on Wednesday, when the girl returned two rings and a watch. Smith's enmity, however, seemed to be directed principally at Mrs. Clopton, whom he had threatened at the meeting in the hotel.

Miss Clopton came from New Kent County, and was the only support of her mother. She was nineteen years old. Smith was a monotype operator, but had been out of employment for some time.

FOCH GIVES TROOPS ALL CREDIT FOR SAVING PARIS

Paris, March 22.—Marshal Foch, in an interview today—the first anniversary of the great German drive by which the Germans hoped to crush the allies—declared it was not he who gave victory to France but "the admirable soldiers."

"I have only one merit, and that is, I never despair," continued the great French leader.

Refering to a historic conference just 4 days after the German drive began, Marshal Foch said he told the statesmen just what he thought:

"France will never die. We can stop the Boches immediately. One has only to say, 'They shall not pass,' and I guarantee that they will not pass."

"Let me keep your $720 while you go get me two nice bags of peanuts."

George Vlassopulos handed over to "Viola" the funds he had collected to marry her and set out in quest of the peanuts.

An hour later, after diligently searching for Viola through the Union Station last night, George entered police headquarters. He told detective Scrivener he would like to have Viola and his $720 located.

"What's the lady's last name?" asked Scrivener.

"No can spell. Sound like Zeeeyell."

He supplemented this information with a picture of a 35-year-old woman with curly hair and a foreign cast of countenance.

George said that he had known the "girl" for two years. He had "decided to try her as a wife," and came here from Syracuse, on the first lap of the trial honeymoon, where a marriage would be held, if it was to be found agreeable to both, he declared.

Police are wondering how the ceremony was to be staged in the Union Station. George will swear out a warrant for his intended this morning, he told the police. In the mean time the only trace-means at hand is the name of her photographer in Syracuse.

Lou Hall Secures His Freedom After Being in Jail Seven Months on Charge of Murdering Little Eva Roy.

Lou Hall is free.

After seven months imprisonment, accused of the brutal murder of fourteen year old Eva Roy last fall, the Fairfax county wood cutter last night walked down the wood path leading to his cabin home a free man.

"Not guilty" was the verdict brought by the second jury trying the case at 7:45 o'clock last night, one hour after the case had been placed in their hands by Judge Brent. The first ballot taken resulted in eight for acquittal and four for conviction, but the final vote freed the prisoner and ended one of the most sensational murder trials in the history of the musty little Fairfax county court room.

Dazed When Freed

Lou Hall, himself, seemed dazed by the verdict and only after his attorney, Walter Oliver, had repeatedly, assured him that his long imprisonment was over did he seem to grasp the idea that he was at liberty to leave the court room unattended by the jailer of the past seven months and a half.

Mr. Oliver, asked his client if he did not desire to spend the night at the jail but Lou, for the first time showing any animation, replied emphatically in the negative and declared his intention to return home at once.

With him were his aged father, who has spent the last cent he possessed in the world in his sons defense, and his three brothers, the youngest recently returned from France. Hall's little son, Lou, Jr., had fallen asleep during the tedious proceedings of the day and his father carried him in his arms as he started on the ten-mile trail for home.

Brother Testifies

Beverly Hall, the accused's soldier brother, took the witness stand yesterday afternoon, testifying that Lou had always been nervous, and "fidgetty" since childhood, and that he would have undobutedly broken down under the strain of his long imprisonment and the repeated tests to which he has been put if he were guilty.

Hall himself was not brought to the stand during this trial, his counsel believing that he had proven his case at the first trial in November, and that a repetition of his testimony was unnecessary.

Among the witnesses summoned by the defense yesterday was Vernon Ford, the Commonwealth attorney, prosecuting the case. Judge Brent refused to permit Mr. Ford to testify concerning the examination of Ben Rubin, the Lorton convict, who last fall confessed to the crime and later retracted his confession.

The body of Eva Roy was found tied to a tree in a lonely wood near Burke Station, Va., on August 5. She was supopsed to have been murdered two days before.

Hall was arrested on the day following the discovery of the body and tried for the first time in November. The jury disagreed and, the case was held over to the January court and later postponed until March.

MAYOR MAKES ARREST

One night this week a dangerous negro, who had drunk himself drunk, took refuge in a house in Leesburg, and after arming himself with a pistol and a gun defied the officers who went to arrest him. Mayor Lowenbach, upon learning of conditions, procured a pistol and started for the scene. The negro fired several shots in the dark, but the bullets went wild, and then announced that he would use a double-barreled shot gun upon any one who attempted to enter. His honor, undaunted, left his officers at the door, rushed in and before the darkey could use his gun fixed the nippers upon him, pulled him to the door and turned him over to the police.

The above brings to mind an incident in the history of Alexandria. One Sunday morning during the summer of 1872 there was a negro funeral in this city. The deceased had been a member of several organizations, each of which formed the funeral cortege. Negroes from Washington swarmed into the city for the purpose of attending and participating in the obsequies. The appearance of so many of the colored race in Alexandria on a quiet Sunday caused anxiety, and, as had been anticipated, before they left exciting scenes took place. Many of the darkeys were of the ruffian class, and on their way down King street to the ferry steamer they indulged in rioting. The police soon found they were unable to cope with the disturbers of the peace, and for a time the visitors had things their own way.

The late Hugh Latham was Mayor of Alexandria at the time, and arming himself with a pistol he was soon on the scene. In the meantime the bulk of the negroes had boarded the ferry boat, and with them the ringleaders of the riot. It was dangerous for an officer of the law to go aboard the the steamer which was about to leave the slip. The Mayor, however, with two members of the force rushed aboard, his honor ordering the captain to hold the boat at the wharf until he and his officers went ashore. The Mayor and his men searched for some time for the guilty ones, and finally located them and took them in custody in the presence of hundreds of their race. They were marched ashore and locked up.

A week or ten days before an election had been held in this city and Mr. Latham had been defeated. Those who looked on were convinced that a man with an iron nerve had been disposed ro matter what abilities might have been possessed by his successor.

WHAT NEXT?

An association has been formed by men who are not distillers or brewers of rendering the Eighteenth Amendment inoperative, In its address it says: "It is strongly opposed to prohibition by constitutional amendment of the manufacture and sale of cigarettes, or chewing gum, or cough drops."

It is suggested that this reference to chewing gum and cough drops may seem trivial, flippant and ridiculous. But the address says that 25 years ago the prohibition of wine would have seemed impossible, and 25 years hence the prohibition of cigarettes may be a fact. And if so, what next?

If things mave as fast as they seem to do in this age of sudden transitions, tobacco will be proscribed in five years, and not improbably in three. Plenty of people desire to proscribe it. It is a subject of prohibitory legislation in Iowa. The Methodist Conference demands its suppression. The Presbyterian General Assembly has denounced the use of tobacco. The Pennsylvania Assembly last May condemned cigarettes with alcoholic beverages, and plenty of the commissioners at the Assembly were strongly opposed to allowing soldiers to have them.

Alcoholic beverages undoubtedly intoxicate, and to that extent the opposition has a rational foundation. But tobacco does not intoxicate. The objection to it is that the odor is disagreeable to many persons. We might add that Limburger cheese is also offensive to the olfactories of many.

At a Methodist prayer meeting in Hartford, Conn., fifty years ago, there was a special prayer that President Grant may be led to see the error of his way and give up the use of tobacco in all forms, "especially chewing and smoking."

AN AWFUL REFLECTION

A few days ago a Baltimore paper printed one of the most suggestive pictures we have gazed upon for a long time. It personified Civilization staggering under a number of huge volumes, while lying on the ground in front of him lay a grinning savage, who utters the words: "What's the matter, brother? Don't it work?"

Among the heavy volumes which burden Civilization were the following: "Laws of Civilization," "How to be Good," "Altruism," "Twenty Centuries of Lessons on the Art of Living," "Law and Order," etc. Back of the print are the words, "Riots, strikes, atrocities," etc.

Up to a few years ago the civilized world was intoxicated by the delusion that our habitable globe was growing better. How any thoughtful person can look upon the world today and announce his faith in any such dream is difficult to understand. The ferment of outlawry is putting in its work all the time. There is but little subordination anywhere. Men, naturally prone to do as suits them, are deying law and order, not only are treaties between nations regarded as scaps of paper, but local laws, intended for the good of communities, and adopted by majorities, are set at naught by disorderly minorities, lynchings are in vogue, and the end of such conditions cannot be discerned by the keenest eyes.

What is to be termination of this present state of affairs? Is the planet to be turned over to those who, in scriptural language, are "despising dominion?" It looks so.

While the waves and the sea are roaring, as we are told will be the case in the latter days, we often think of the composite man Nebuchadnezzar saw in his vision. The figure represented four universal empires which were to rise in the world. The head was gold, arms and breast silver, belly and thighs of brass and the legs iron with the feet part iron and part of clay. The figure was deteriorating all the time. It was finally demolished and became as chaff on the summer threshing floor.

Well might the savage taunt Civilization with the queries, "What's the matter, brother? Don't it work?"

THE LUSITANIA TRAGEDY

Government to Demand Lump Sum For Each Man, Woman and Child

Washington, March 22.—Germany is to be charged the same amount for each and every individual victim of the Lusitania tragedy, it is announced at the state department.

After a long controversy which began when Count Bernstorff the late German ambassador tried to compromise on $5,000 per head the government has decided it would be no respector of persons. As a result the heirs of Alfred Vanderbilt, Chas. Froham and other well known and very prominent people will get no more indemnity than the humblest and youngest victim of the disaster.

The United States, however, raised the individual indemnity above $5,000 but how much more is not disclosed here. It is stated the amount may be fixed at $10,000 per head. This would make the sum total about a million and a quarter dollars.

The total for the Lusitania is included in the general total of $750,000,000 field against Germany as announced recently by the state department. It is expected that the total may be scaled down as officials say is usually the case when claims are put in cases where there is no general or standard of value.

It is not known here how the action of the department will suit the people concerned. The lump sum for each man, woman or child is a different thing from the clai mas originally put in. At the time when there was a prospect that Count Von Bernstorff would secure a settlement there had been filed at the department a great number and variety of claims which involved in some cases sentimental rather than actual values. It was stated about that time that some of the claims ran as nigh as a million dollars with a decreasing trend towards $5,000 to $10,000.

Individual claims however, were never given for publication. State department officials declare as erroneous the stories from abroad to the effect that the Lusitania claims alone before the peace commission figure up $800,000,000. It is explained that while the total of American claims for destruction of property and life by German submarines amounted to $750,000,000 about two weeks ago. It is understood that there are additional claimants to be heard from whose losses would swell the claim and that while the total may approximate $800,000,000 the Lusitania claims are nothing like that amount.

LIQUOR IN HEARSE

Marinette, Wis., March 22.—State constabulary officers with headquarters in Menominee, Mich., are investigating a case in which it is said an Escanaba liveryman ran the booze blockade in a unique manner.

He was stopped in Menominee in his automobile and warned not to take liquor across the border. It is alleged he hired a hearse in Marinette, loaded booze into it and then followed with several carriages, also carrying booze.

This strange procession then wended its way through Marinette to the outskirts of Menominee, where the Escanaba man met it, transferred the liquor and reached Escanba with hundreds of dollars' worth of contraband liquor.

THE IDEAL TONIC
ARGO-PHOSPHATE

The world's greatest tonic for lassitude and all run-down enemic conditions. It just puts pep into the whole system. "It's the best tonic I ever used," says a Boston physician. Dispensed by Richard Gibson and The Rexall Store.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As to Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.,—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache and bearing down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then It would last two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three, I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years,

Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

A REAL ECONOMY
Because of Extra Wear

There is no better judge of shoe wear and comfort than the policeman who is on his feet all day long. W. H. Berry, patrolman in Boston, Mass., says of Neolin-soled shoes: "My shoes with Neolin Soles serve me better than any others I have ever used. They keep my feet dry at all times, and do not slip."

When you buy new shoes, be sure they are Neolin-soled, and you, too, will know a better service from shoes. Moreover, these shoes are a real economy because of the extra wear they give. Most good shoe stores carry them in styles for men, women, and children.

And don't throw away your old shoes. Have them re-soled with Neolin Soles. Remember—these soles are flexible and waterproof, as well as long wearing, and are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear all other heels.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

The majority of German merchant seamen under the influence of their officers, have pledged themselves to sail with the food ships, which are soon to be turned over to the allies, it was announced yesterday in Berlin. The government has taken measures against possible terrorism by the minority of the sailors, who are reported to be showing Bolshevistic tendencies.

Alleging that in arresting her they refused to give her time to dress and that they entered her bathroom while she was in the bath, Mrs. Margaret Reeves, of Chicago, was awarded judgment of $25,000 yesterday against Nicholas Hunt, former chief of detectives and Sergt. Charles Gratton. Mrs. Reeves alleged false arrest. She had sued for $75,000.

The State Department yesterday demanded of the California and Mexican Land Company, of Los Angeles, Cal., a full explanation of its proposal to sell to a Japanese syndicate 800,000 acres of land in Mexico fronting upon the California border. Attention of the land company was called to two Senate documents which carry warnings to foreign governments against making land purchases on this continent.

"Within three months you from your hotel room in London, will be able to call any New York telephone number and get it inside of fifteen minutes and then talk for three minutes for $5," said Guglielmo Marconi yesterday in London regarding the possibilities of the wireless telephone.

In response to an appeal for assistance from Director General Hines, the War Department yesterday turned over to the Railroad Administration $100,000,000.

The storm of indignation from the Italian and French press at the suggestion of the British admiralty that interned German warships should be sunk is not disturbing the British. If the Italians and French will not agree to this proposal, Great Britain is willing to divide the ships, but will sink its own portion, the United Press learned authoritatively today. Utilization of the ships has been thoroughly considered by the British.

If capitalism refuses to bow to the I. W. W., Mr. Capital will get hit right where it hurts worst—in the stomach, said an ultimatum found on scores of back door steps in Chicago yesterday. The ultimatum was a message to the maid. Ernest Holman, secretary of the New Domestic Workers' Union, said in explanation. "We plan to organize the girls who work in the homes of the rich. Then if the capitalist fails to treat his factory workers fairly the cook will quit. In turn the ice man will pass Mr. Capitalist up and so will the milkman, grocery boy and others."

"The crisis has passed; there probably will be a no strike," said a statement in London yesterday afternoon, referring to the situation arising from the meeting of the "triple alliance" unions discussing a proposal to call a general walkout today.

Three men were killed yesterday when a ninety-ton locomotive, pulling a freight train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad, blew up at Cresco, Pa.

VIRGINIA NEWS

The most destructive and spectacular fire that has occurred in Petersburg for years broke out yesterday afternoon in the storage warehouse of Peterson & Joyner, Inc., dealers in hardware and agricultural implements. The fire soon spread to the storage warehouse of W E. Armstrong, druggist, and both buildings were completely destroyed. In an incredibly short time great volumes of smoke were seen issuing from the windows of the store occupied by Peterson & Joyner, and soon this building, a four-story brick structure, was enveloped in flames. The Camp Lee fire department was sent for and gave valuable aid. The losses which reach a quarter million dollars, are partially covered by insurance.

Police Justice Stephens of Norfolk held Thursday that if a man had consumed all of a pint except one drink, presumably to be used in the early morning, and did not show signs of real intoxication he should be allowed to go free, retain his drink and use it in the natural way. The decision was rendered in the case of W. H. Price, who was arrested in a raid on loafers in a Church street poolroom. When searched at headquarters the liquor was found in Price's pocket and a charge of violation of the Mapp Act was lodged against him. When he saw the amount of liquor in the bottle Justice Stephens dismissed the case.

Flogging of prisoners at the State penitentiary, recently brought prominently before the public through the case of Dr. Asa Chamberlain, will cease to be the mode of punishment named in the statute law of Virginia when the new code goes into effect, in January, 1920. The section permitting stripes to be administered to recalcitrant victims will stand repealed, and in its place there will be effective another which gives the board of directors wide powers in selecting modes of punishment, "not to be cruel or inhuman."

Mutilated and with hands and face covered with blood, the body of a Greek was found yesterday about three miles from Richmond under a tree. A registration card in the man's clothing bore the name of Peter Veras, Wilmington, Del.

Virginia and Richmond troops will be routed to Newport News and then to Richmond, in event this is practicable, according to announcement made by Col. J. Lane Stern, adjutant general for Virginia.

POPE BLESSES EASTERNERS

Receives Delegation From Oriental Congregation

Rome, March 22.—Pope Benedict received deputations of members of the clergy belonging to the Eastern church Wednesday. Replying to an address by Mgr. Pisadotulous, head of the Eastern congregation, he briefly summed up what he had been able to do to alleviate suffering caused by the war in the East.

"The Roman Pontiff has always been a friend of the Oriental church and has reposed great hope in it," he said. "He has not only been a friend but has turned with deep affection to the Orient, which has been all the more intense because of the uncertainty of the fate of the distant sons of the church. I wish these words so far, Itransmit my thought to these present and trust that all wish that Oriental Christendom should be united by close friendship and filial love to the Apostolic See."

The Pope then bestowed the apostolic blessing on all present.
